Stahly's "Quick-Change-Combo" is a true combo – it can be switched fast and easy. Operators use one multi-purpose applicator year round, lowering cost per acre and maximizing investment. Save high clearance machines for what they're designed for. You probably don't need an overweight 1,200 gal hydrostat for the number of tall crops you spray, and you can cover more acres per day with a Stahly Pete than any "ground-up" unit or hydrostat. Many customers run 30,000 post acres before switching to high clearance machines, extending their service life or are downsizing to 1,000-800 gallon units.
